Dear Allen,

I've put a lot of thought into this letter for the last few weeks. Trying to find the right words to express my gratitude.

When we first met I was a mess. Even though I was you still saw the good in me unlike most people in my life. When I thought all was hopeless you found a way to give me hope.

In the time we've known one another I've stumbled and I have fallen. But, regardless you never gave up on me. You saw the good in me when it seemed no one else did.

I am thankful that I had you in my corner. I know your thinking "I was just doing my job". I believe people were meant to do certain things in this life and you're doing what you meant to do.

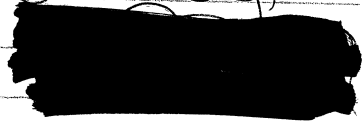

It all came full circle when you came here and asked to see me just to check on me. I saw that you truly put your heart in your work. It touched me deeply when you asked about Kathy and Omari. It means a lot to me that you remember the most important people to me by name. I felt like I wasn't a lost cause like I feel sometimes.

Anyway, I just wanted to say Thank You for all you've done for me. I will always be grateful and will never forget you.

One day I hope to send you another letter, telling you all about my success.

Sincerely,
